Toiling On

We are evermore forgetting that our stay on earth is brief, and we waste the time in fretting, hunting for all kinds of grief, making moan about the weather, magnify ing every ill, as we toil along to gether to the boneyard on the hill. All our little griefs and worries will forsake us in a day; every dark affliction hurries, anxious to be on its way, but we lasso it and tether every trouble we can nail as we toil along together to the boneyard in the vale. Life should be a cheerful ramble, but we make it one of woes, and we howl about the bramble till we overlook the rose. We ignore the LAYS PLANS TO GATHER scented heather, looking for the thistle clump, as we toil along together to the boneyard by the dump. There's so much to make us joyous, there's so much that's good and bright! There's so little Subcommittee Asked to Tabulate to annoy us, if our hearts were only right! Why bawl forth, from lungs of leather, protests fierce, when all is well, as we toil along together to the boneyard in the WALT MASON.

GIVES SPRING PERFORMANCE. Players' Club Benefit for St. Al-

oysius Church a Success. For the benefit of St. Aloysius Church the Players' Club of Washington last night presented its spring performance in the Gonzaga College Theater. "Miss Civilization," a comedy in one act, by Richard Harding Davis, was the first offering on the program and was well staged and presented. Mrs. Mabel Kipp-Lewis portrayed the role of Alice Gardner, which was originally played by Miss Ethel Barrymore, and her interpretation of the part was most satisfactory. She was assisted by Arthur B. White, Ed. E. Muth and George A. Bentley, who were seen as the three burglars. Mr. White directed the production of this sketch.

A one-act farce entitled "A Regular Fix," which was also produced under Mr. White's direction, gave an excellent opportunity for comedy situations and dialogue for Maurice H. Jarvis and M. E. Kahn. The rest of the cast in this latter sketch was composed of the following:

Miss Emily Bradley, Wesley B. Peckham, Miss Helen B. Goodhue, Miss Clara Conrad, Homer T. Shaver, Miss Esther Galbraith and John H. Hill. Between these two sketches was interspersed high-class vaudeville.

"Some drops of rain at this point made us apprehensive as to the advisability of continuing," says the "official" report of the hike, "and after reaching an old deserted house with pinh shutters, at an intersection of roads, a "war council" was called. Eighty decided to beat it' back to the city the shortest way, and the others decided to follow the leader, come what might. "Well, we followed the leader down Walker road (a good name for the hikers), across Oxon run, then along and in the close vicinity of this branch, crossing it several times, sometimes jumping, sometimes wading, the rain in the meantime coming down in real April fashion.

"After rather an interesting experience, over roads and through some fields, we came out on Sultland road, and then the sun greeted us and an enchantment was given to the surroundings which made the trip feel worth several storms."
